PROFILE

After three years of study I achieved an upper second class honours degree and have worked in the film and video industry for five years since. In that time I have developed a huge passion for the sonic world. I'm adept in many areas of production and post production sound, working on projects from audio capture through to sound design and post.

I take huge levels of pride in my work and always love reviewing it to recount and celebrate it, as well as critically analyse all areas to further improve my skills.

Reliable organisation and strong communication are important traits for me and are integral for my workflow and approach.

Outside of audio, I'm also a professional photographer and videographer and this is well ingrained in my day job, my freelance career and my personal hobbies.
